

Book Summary

What's the number one thing threatening your teen from becoming a successful adult? The answer might surprise you. Many teens lack ambition, self-confidence, the ability to make meaningful relationships, keep a job or pay their bills. They lack the skills they need to be functioning adults. We call them sitting ducks. Don't let yours become one.

Samantha had fallen prey to cruel bullying and begun to shut down. At 16, she spent more time in her room alone, than she did in school everyday. Desperate to help her daughter find success and gain confidence, Sandy knew she had to do something BIG. She found the solution in the unconventional...

Parenting teenagers is not easy.

Sandy knows first-hand how hard it is to maneuver the obstacles of raising an adolescent. From her own experiences, she can arm you with tools and tactics to thrive as a parent in the teen years.
